BREATH TESTER - DPS Patrolman Leroy Broadus, left, watches DPS chemist King Nelson demonstrate use of the Breathalyzer, installed in the sheriff's office on Thursday. The instrument will be used to test all drivers suspected of being intoxicated. Use of the machine is authorized under Texas' Implied Consent Law.

Machine To Test DWI Suspects

"But officer, I'm not drunk -- I just had one beer." This plea of drivers suspected by Texas highway patrolmen to be drunk can now be answered by a machine.

The "Breathalyzer," an instrument that analyzes a suspect's breath to determine the percentage of alcohol in his blood stream, was installed in Milam County Sheriff Carl Black's office on Thursday.

DPS personnel, Sgt. G. E. Simmons Jr. of Georgetown, area chemist King Nelson of Austin, and Patrolman Leroy Broadus of Cameron were on hand to install the machine and explain its workings to area newsmen.

"Our procedure for stopping drivers suspected of being intoxicated will be the same," Broadus said. "Some people seem to think we'll set up road blocks and test everyone's breath, but we will continue our standard observation procedure."

Broadus said the breathalyzer will be "a real aid to us," adding that the test will remove doubt about "borderline" cases.

The DPS chemist explained that a suspect breathes into a tube attached to the breathalyzer and the percentage of alcohol in his blood will register on an indicator on the face of the instrument.

"The scientifically proven instrument is of special value to persons suspected of being drunk but who are driving erratically due to illness or other reasons," Nelson said.

Texas' Implied Consent Law requires drivers to take the breath test where the officer has due cause to believe the said driver is intoxicated.

The law provides for suspension of the Drivers License of those drivers who refuse to take the breath test. This law also permits the accused to have a blood test, in addition to the breath test, by a private physician of his choice, and at his expense.

Results of the breath test are admissible in court as evidence, however the DWI case will not depend only on evidence obtained from the test.

The test will be given only by law officers trained and certified to use the breathalyzer. Milam County's DPS patrolmen are all qualified, Sgt. Simmons said.

The instrument will be available for use by city police officers who complete training and are certified by the Department of Public Safety, Simmons added.

Now With F.M.L.

Cameron and Milam County welcome Governor Preston Smith on his visit here Monday for a reception and Cameron Chamber dinner.

A capacity crowd is expected to hear his speech this evening at Cameron First Methodist Fellowship Hall.

NOW-NOW-NOW

Ross Perot, the computer billionaire, came back to Texas from Vietnam last Christmas wiser in the wiles of international diplomacy.

He really was trying to bring off some gift exchange to prisoners or at least get presents to Americans held captive in North Vietnam. He got exactly zilch, as they say, spent $600,000 on jet transport, reports said, being unable even to get the presents into the mail there.

Perot is undoubtedly an optimist. He told a magazine interviewer he decided to try to make it "big" while he is young. He refused, he said, to live out his life "in quiet desperation."

Perot made it as big as anybody. Only Howard Hughes, J. Paul Getty and perhaps a handful of oilmen can claim comparable assets.

Perhaps he is trying to put a bit of the world right with this level of capital. Perhaps Howard Hughes is trying a similar effort "to set things right" in Las Vegas.

Nobody is quite sure about Huges' efforts. Nobody is even quite sure what he looks like anymore. But he's buying up Vegas to industrialize the town.

Perhaps Perot can do endless good with these assets. Question is, after his trip to Southeast Asia, Russia and over the Polar Ice Cap, can one man dint the amorphous problem of mass, which is Asia?

Ross Perot undoubtedly has asked himself: What am I to do with this wealth? He has made a number of early business associates millionaires.

Is it possible he still fears, after phenomenal success, some "quiet desperation?"

PTA Panel To Discuss CampusPlan

A Campus plan for upper classmen will be the topic for a panel discussion at Cameron Parent Teachers Association meeting Thursday.

The PTA will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Ben Milam Cafetorium.

The campus plan, a schedule with 2 and 3 day a week classes that would allow upper classmen to leave the campus during periods when he was not in class, is a new idea in public education. Proponents say it is better training for juniors and seniors in use of free time and provides better a transition to college and technical schools.

Panel members will be Alvis Fuquay, Yoe High School principal, Rev. Wirt Skinner, Caroline Mitchell, Douglas Marburger, Ann Arthur, and John Ben Sutter.

400 To Hear Gov. At CofC Banquet

Leaders To Cite Civic Progress

A capacity crowd of 400 will hear Gov. Preston Smith Monday at the annual Cameron Chamber of Commerce banquet at Methodist Fellowship Hall.

The banquet officially begins at 7:30 p.m., however Chamber officials said food would be served starting at 7 p.m.

A public reception will precede the banquet from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. at Cameron Public Library.

Governor Smith's appearance will highlight the annual banquet which will see introduction of the 1970 McCullin Award winner, introduction of incoming President James Lafferty, vice presidents Robert Ellett and Don G. Humble.

Outgoing Chamber President Henry Litzman will report on civic developments in the Cameron area during 1969. New president and outgoing directors will be recognized.

Governor Smith will be introduced by H. H. Coffield, Rockdale oilman-industrialist who is secretary of the State Democratic Executive Committee.

A native of Georgetown, Gov. Smith is a graduate of Texas Tech and a partner in a theatre chain in Lubbock and Oklahoma.

He has held public office since 1944 when he went to the Texas Legislature as representative of the old 119th District.

In 1956 he was elected a state senator and in 1962 he was elected lieutenant governor in a field of five candidates. He was elected Governor in the 1968 general election by 407,000 votes.

Census Starts In Area

The 1970 Census is officially underway.

Householders all over the United States are filling out the forms delivered by mail on Saturday, and enumerators are preparing to start collecting forms this week.

Distribution of the questionnaires before the house-to-house canvass gives families a chance to assemble information about each member and about the house in advance of the census taker's visit.

All residents are urged to fill out the forms and have them ready for the census takers when they start their rounds.

The forms should not be mailed. Householders should hold them for the census taker.

If you did not receive a form in the mail, you may pick one up at any post office. Transients will be counted on the night of March 31 at motels, hotels, and other large places.

The form contains seven questions about every persons in the household and 13 questions about the dwelling.

Most of the questions are answered by filling in the proper tiny circle with a common lead pencil, making a tiny black dot which can be "read" by Census Bureau machines.

Residents should read the instruction sheet which came with the questionnaire before filling it out.

The census taker will check the form to see that all questions are answered and will give help if needed in filling out forms.

At every fifth household, the census taker will seek answers to additional questions that are being asked of a 20 percent sample of the Nation's population.

All information is kept confidential under Federal law. Only statistical totals and averages are published.

IDENTIFICATION

Official census takers will wear a red, white and blue card bearing the seal of the Department of Commerce, and the words "Census Enumerator, Official Credential" are printed across its face.

$25,000 Decision Reached In Suit

An out-of-court settlement of $25,000 was reached Friday morning in a damage suit for about $231,000 in Milam District Court.

The suit was filed by Norman T. Moore of Waco against Coffield Construction Co. of Rockdale for injuries Moore sustained while working in the courthouse elevator shaft last April.

Testimony in the suit began Tuesday following selection of a 12-man jury, and concluded Friday morning. Presiding District Judge W. C. Wallace called a recess to prepare his charge and the agreement to settle was reached during the recess.

The accident happened on April 24. Moore and a fellow employee of Brazos Elevator Co. of Waco were working in the bottom of the elevator shaft when a sawhorse fell down the shaft from the second floor, striking Moore in the face.

The elevator installation was part of a remodeling project in Milam Courthouse. Coffield Construction Co. was contractor for the remodeling and Brazos Elevator Co., sub-contractor for the elevator.

Moore testified that shortly after 1 p.m. on April 24 he was knocked unconscious by the falling sawhorse.

According to Moore's testimony, his face was badly crushed. He underwent surgery, but, he said, his right eye is lower than his left, causing double vision at times; his nose is pushed to one side and has narrower air passages, causing breathing difficulties, and he suffers from headaches.

Jerry Beckworth, who was working with Moore, corroborated Moore's testimony about the accident. He said he looked up, saw the sawhorse starting its fall and warned "look out."

Beckworth denied ever saying he saw anyone push the sawhorse.

Sheriff Carl Black testified about the location of the sawhorse near his office door.

The shaft opening had crossed two-by-fours and slats covering the upper portion. The sawhorse was apparently placed to block the lower opening.

The three witnesses called by the defense were the Coffield Co. office manager; Jack Wells, company superintendent of the remodeling job; and County Clerk Wayne Wieser.

Wells testified that the second floor barrier or barricade, was placed so the lower edge was about knee high from the floor. Questioned closely about the location of the sawhorse, he said it was probably not nearer than two feet from the shaft opening. He denied it was used as a barrier.

Wieser said he arrived at the courthouse after lunch and saw a crowd gathered around the injured man on the lawn. He asked Beckworth how the accident happened and was told by Beckworth that he and Moore were working in the pit when he looked up and saw a man on the second floor move the sawhorse. It fell and hit Moore.

Wieser testified to the conversation with Beckworth over the objections of Moore's lawyer.

That concluded testimony in the case and a recess was called.

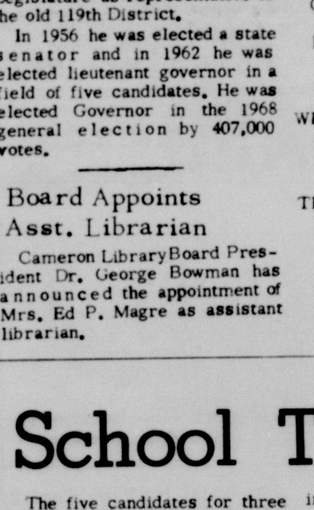
School Trustee Candidates Offer Views

The five candidates for three positions on the Cameron Independent School District were invited by The Herald to offer a statement on their candidacy.

Incumbent trustees seeking re-election are Dr. John Martin, Charles McDermott, and Forrest Sapp. Also seeking election are Mrs. Reeves Brown and Bentley Hause.

Here, in order of their places on the April 4 ballot, are the candidates:

Brown



MRS. REEVES BROWN

As the time approaches for the Cameron Independent School District trustee elections, I find myself becoming so eager to win a place on the board in order to work with the school problems in which I find myself becoming so deeply interested.

I feel there is so much we can do constantly to upgrade and broaden our children's education, to keep our young people challenged and vitally interested in school in order to keep them voluntarily in school till they graduate, and to open new vocational classes that will give those who do not plan to attend college a chance to be trained for gainful employment by the time they graduate from high school.

I would be hopeful that progressive education methods that allow children to progress at their own ability rate can be brought into full use.

Also I would like to see material on drugs well taught to fully give our young people the facts to protect themselves from the detriment that drugs can cause. I believe the state is busy putting together a program for the local schools to use for drug education; surely it will be ready for use by September 1970.

Furthermore I am wondering if it would not be practical to use space in unused or seldom used buildings throughout the town for extra classroom space to save having to add to our taxes for needed additional classrooms.

I feel we would all like to see our good school system continue to improve without adding anymore taxes than absolutely necessary to our tax burdens.

Please remember that all registered voters in the Cameron Independent School District, rural or town people, can vote in the trustee election April 4.

I would really like to serve as a trustee and shall try at all times to be completely attuned to all - parents, students, faculty, and the community at large.

Sapp

Sapp gave no statement, saying he'd been on the school board long enough that he feels people know what he stands for.

Martin

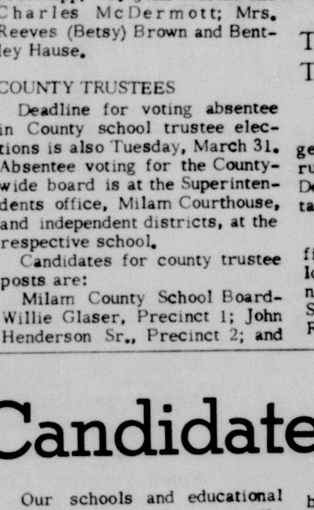
I feel that the education of our children is the most important thing that we do as a community.

Our schools and educational methods are changing rapidly. We have made much progress in the last few years. Much more will be made in the '70s.

I feel that more attention and money should be put on vocational training. Also, the quality of our basic education should be raised.

I believe in fair but firm discipline. We should listen to our youth when they suggest improvements; but not when they just want to tear down.

I feel that our children should have the best education we can afford. Not the most money can buy, we are a moderate income District.



DR. JOHN MARTIN

I also do not think we should scrimp or be miserly with our tax money, for spending too little is worse than too much.

Each school board meeting should be attended by a Parent Teacher Association member, a classroom teacher, and a Student Council member. This will improve communication and understanding of the Board's decisions.

I feel that the plans which have been started, if continued, will meet these goals.

I have had three years experience on the CISD Board and ask that you continue to let me represent you.

McDermott

(No picture available)

The best education possible today for our leaders of tomorrow is my reason for seeking re-election as a member of the Cameron School Board. One must do everything he can to encourage students to be partners in this great advancement of learning.

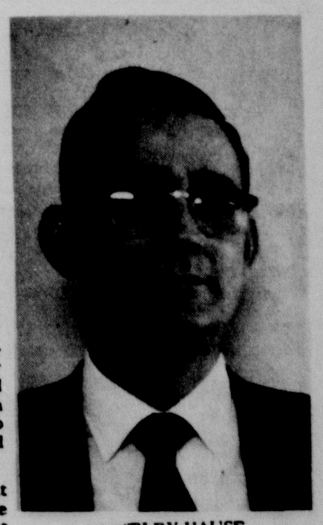
A school's curriculum will always need improvement to meet the changing world. Budgeting is always the concern to make way for more and better improvements. There is a great need for enlarging our vocational and technical programs to reach every student who prefers to work with his hands and mind for a better way in life.

Taxpayers often think that schools are too costly. In one sense they are, but one must consider the children who are being educated. The education of these children is the responsibility of the school board, but the support for this education is everyones responsibility.

We should give these matters very careful attention because the young people of today will carry out the plans of tomorrow.

I am 44 years of age, born and reared in this school district, a graduate of C.H. Yoe High and Texas A&M College, served in the armed forces during World War II, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Erskine McDermott. I am married to the former Frances Sebesta and have three children -- Charlene, 17; Paul Curtis, 15; and Charles Erskine McDermott III, 9. I am at present engaged in farming and ranching with my father in the Marlow Community.

Hause



BENTLEY HAUSE

I am seeking a place on the Cameron School Board. I do not have the answers to all of our school's problems. If elected, I will seek the answers to the questions as they arise.

I know we should in the future, as in the past, seek to improve the quality of our education and keep our school's facilities updated.

If elected, I will do my best to see that our children are given the best we can afford so that they may succeed in this highly competitive world.

I am married to the former Gloria Jungmann. Gloria and I attended school in the Cameron School District. We reside in Cameron and have two children ages 7 and 9.

WORSHIP IN CHURCH

Let Peace Be Everywhere.

In this world of false prophets and self-proclaimed wise men, may this symbol of the Holy Spirit light upon us.

May the Prince of Peace put a quietus on political protagonists and eliminate all rivalry between Methodists, Presbyterians, Baptists, Catholics and Jewish groups.

Why can't the Dove of Peace bring goodwill to all men? We must learn that preparation of the soul is much more important than progress in business and things. Of course the road to peace is more difficult than the way of strife.

Peace bears the mark of culture, of civilization, of deep piety and genuine religion.

Then let us give the "Prince of Peace" a chance. Let us all be peacemakers, for they shall be called the children of God. Attend church this week and help build a world for God.

Entered as second-class matter at the Post Office in Cameron, Texas, under the Act of Congress of March 1, 1879. Published every Thursday.

Congrats, Cen-Tex Postal People . . .

Post employees of Milam and the Central Texas area are to be congratulated for not joining the walkout which crippled mail service in parts of the nation the past days.

No postal employee went out in Texas, but assuredly they must have had some empathy for the people who did in New York, even though the New Yorkers' judgment was limited.

The long-term image of postal service will suffer because of the walkout, particularly over judicial injunction, and will encourage faster adoption of automation once a postal raise is approved and tighter operation of the postal service develops.

Restraint not to do something well may be considered one of this nation's strongest virtues when historians look back on this past decade's incredible unrest, particularly in that mecca of dissatisfaction, metro New York.

Justification for walkout may be suggested in the cliche "the loudest squeak gets the most grease." But with all the disruptions, all the "squeaks" of the time, the quiet may unexpectedly draw the most attention.

Postal Reform-A Special Delivery

The proposal to reorganize the U.S. Post Office has been rescued from the dead-letter bin of the House Post Office Committee.

Last November the same committee rejected a similar plan that would remove the Post Office from the Cabinet and from the influence of Congress by transforming it into a government corporation akin to the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Stiff (and heretofore successful) opposition has been mounted by the postal unions, which represent some 750,000 employees, and spend liberally to lobby the Congress that sets their salaries.

Perhaps the pivotal reason the House Post Office Committee reversed itself is that advocates of the new postal authority sweetened the pot by attaching to it a 5.4 per cent salary increase for postal employees, retroactive to January 1.

Since the reorganization still needs the approval of the Senate Post Office Committee and of the membership of both chambers, its enactment is not yet assured. The Nixon administration has given the measure high priority, however, and if congressmen can be persuaded of the bipartisan benefit to be derived from taking the Post Office out of politics and out of debt, the nation's mail users will be the winners.

The U.S. postal service is a far-flung and far from satisfactory operation. It is inefficient; its mechanical plant is out-moded; its personnel and policies suffer from the poor management implicit in an arrangement where such matters as budgets, salaries, rates and appointments are decided by 535 congressional overseers.

Under present conditions and restrictions, it is small wonder that the Post Office is technologically retarded, politically vulnerable, and financially embarrassed.

If the Post Office is converted to a government corporation, independently managed, and subject to minimal congressional supervision, it may eventually shed its deficiencies and deficits. Instead of losing $1.2 billion a year, a reorganized Post Office might be self-sufficient by 1976. By floating its own bonds, a postal corporation would be able to modernize postal facilities without waiting hat-in-hand for the uncertain sanction of a Congress occupied with a thousand other authorizations.

In short, the postal corporation makes good sense, means good business, promises good public service and should, therefore, prove to be good politics.

To Affect OAA . . .

SS Payments Increase

When Social Security checks get bigger on April 1, virtually all recipients of state public assistance for the aged, blind, and disabled in Texas will benefit by a $4-a-month increase in income -- although more than half actually will receive smaller state assistance checks, and some people no longer will be eligible for state public assistance.

Also, while federal law prohibits the states from counting any part of retroactive Social Security increases for two months (January and February) as income against state assistance grants, Texas public assistance recipients will be able to keep all of their retroactive Social Security increases for three months -- January, February, and March.

State Welfare Commissioner Burton G. Hackney said that the recent amendments to the Social Security Act will have these effects on Old Age Assistance (OAA) payments in Texas:

1. Approximately 138,500 OAA recipients will receive smaller state assistance checks beginning April 1. At the same time, Social Security payments to these individuals will increase, and the combination of the two sources of income will mean an additional $4 per month per person.

2. Approximately 95,500 OAA recipients, who receive no Social Security benefits, will receive $4 a month more in their state Old Age Assistance checks beginning April 1.

3. Approximately 4,100 people now receiving state OAA benefits will no longer be eligible for state assistance. These people -- representing less than 2% of the OAA caseload -- are those receiving relatively high Social Security benefits and having comparatively small "unmet needs" which had entitled them to receive state assistance checks of from $1 to $5 a month. The increase in their Social Security to "pass on" a similar benefit to state assistance recipients in the adult categories who do not receive Social Security.

The 15% increase in Social Security benefits is expected to mean an average increase of $9.50 to those beneficiaries also eligible for state public assistance. The states must disregard $4 of this average increase in counting a recipient's Social Security income, to assure a $4 increase from the combination of both sources. Congress also said, in effect, that since the average $5.50 which would be counted as income would result in a reduction of state grants to Social Security recipients, the resultant savings to the states should be "passed on" to those state recipients not receiving Social Security, so that grants to these persons could be increased also by $4 a month.

The State Board of Public Welfare, supporting this "intent of Congress," has authorized an increase in the standard of budgetable needs by $4 for the adult programs, and also raised the maximum grant limitations for each of the three adult programs by $4.

Federal law limits the amount of any income exemption in Old Age Assistance to $7.50 a month, and Texas has been for some time allowing the full $7.50 exemption. The new $4 "exemption" of Social Security increases is in addition to the $7.50.

Texas Beef 'Tenderness' Is Promoted

AUSTIN

The Texas Department of Agriculture has launched the most elaborate TAP sales promotion to date with the 1970 kickoff of the "Texas Grain Fed Beef" campaign this week.

Commissioner John C. White announced the beginning of this latest Texas Agricultural Products (TAP) market promotion with the comment that it is the best interests of all Texans to be better informed as to the quality and nutritive values of "Texas Grain Fed Beef."

Commissioner White said that all medias of communication will be utilized in bringing the Texas beef story to the public in the next two months. The most noticeable will be over 14,000 four-color in-store posters in the retail supermarkets and grocery stores of the state featuring three delicious cuts of beef. Those to be shown are the T-Bone, Chuck Roast and Round Steak cut in full color to whet appetites and help plan Texas meals. The posters will be augmented with colorful price cards and case strips to be displayed throughout the beef sales area.

Radio and television stations around the state are receiving one minute and 30-second spot announcements that extol by film and tape virtues of beef by plainly stating that, "Tenderness is Texas Grain-Fed Beef."

One thousand outdoor billboards are going up across the state that feature a full color T-Bone steak on a yellow field. The poster proclaims to all passers by that Tenderness is Texas Grain-Fed Beef.

Also over one-million billing supplements that are miniature copies of the outdoor billboards will be mailed to Texans by financial and service organizations along with their monthly statements.

Texans will see the soon to be familiar T-Bone steak on a yellow field in their favorite restaurants in the form of a small colorful table tent and menu clip-ons. These little beef reminders are being distributed throughout the state through the membership of the Texas Restaurant Association.

Commissioner White stated that many beef industry and allied groups are cooperating to the success of the Texas Grain-Fed Beef Promotion.

Teens' View

New Americans

(Ed Note: Following is the third in a series of essays by Yoe High School Juniors, written in response to a quote from Emerson "The true test of a civilization is not the census nor the size of cities, nor the crops - no, but the kind of man the country turns out.")

By Barbara Vansa

In regard to our civilization in the United States today, I feel that the true test of civilization is the kind of man the country turns out. It makes no difference if the country has a wealth of material things, such as crops, machines, natural resources, and others. These would be of little value to anyone unless the people use them.

It is true that the United States has draft-card burners, rioters, drug addicts, and demonstrators, to name a few. And it would be of no interest to overlook such people. But we should also think of the good as well as the bad.

Today there are people who want to express their individuality so they demonstrate, but these same people should not try and begrudge other people a chance to say what they feel even if it does not agree with them.

Crime, poverty, prejudice, and lack of respect for the law or anything representing authority have all been evident throughout the years and I think they will always be a factor in our society. I realize that they are more of a deciding factor today than a hundred years ago, but people are people and everyone at one time or another comes to resent authority. The difference is how one overcomes such resentment.

Some people feel it necessary to express themselves so that everyone will notice and still others fell it better to do their overcoming quietly.

Too many people put a value on material things to the highest level. Many feel it necessary to keep up with the "Jones" and do not try to make the best out of what they have.

There is a lack of respect for or trust in adults by teenagers but there is also a lack of respect for or trust in teenagers by adults. Too often I see in the papers an article criticizing the so-called younger generation but haven't you heard the saying "you're as young as you feel." I may be too hard on some people but I get tired of hearing of the bad in life; surely there must be some good left in the world.

Those who corrupt and abuse the law and condemn the police due to their so-called police brutality, are the people whose opinions are heard the loudest, but are thought of less. There may be police who get carried away and do something wrong but the majority do more good than harm.

Everyone hears of the "good old days" but have you ever heard anyone say the "good now"?

Onions Don't Show

Onions and other strong smelling foods or beverage have no effect on the newly approved breath test which scientifically measures the amount of alcohol in a driver's blood.

The Texas Safety Association says only the amount of alcohol present in the blood is shown by the test thus helping to tell the difference between drunk and sober drivers.

CAMERON'S PARADE OF SPORTS

LET'S LOOK AT BASEBALL 1953

For just plain love of baseball you would have to do a lot of lookin' to beat the Cameron Cardinals. Organized in 1946, The Cardinals sometimes found the going hard because of finances. But local firms and individuals have contributed money, baseballs, bats and uniforms so they have continued through the years to play baseball. They hope to make the 1970 season a successful one. Some of the leaders in organizing The Cameron Cardinals in 1946 were Henry Mendoza, Simon Rangel, Zeke DeLaRosa and J. D. Soriano.

In the 1953 season The Cameron Cardinals played Waco, Taylor, Hearne, Salado, Calvert, Elgin, Bryan, Temple and McGregor.

According to Mr. Soriano, who has been the manager for many years there was no record kept of the wins and losses in 1953. But he said, "we won more than lost, so it was a good year and we played baseball."

FHA Views Plans For New Dept.

The announcement by Supt. D. R. Dodson that plans are complete for a new homemaking building was one of the highlights of the Future Homemakers of America Mother - Daughter banquet last Tuesday night.

"South of the Border" was theme for the banquet, with decorations and food carrying out the Mexican motif. The annual banquet was attended by FHA members, their mothers, and other guests. Future Farmers of America officers also attended.

Supt. Dodson showed plans for the new homemaking building which will be submitted to school trustees at the April board meeting. Dodson said the building should be completed by the end of August.

A skit by FHA officers followed the banquet, and each member introduced her mother or guest.

The banquet was held in Methodist Fellowship Hall.
